Children Flock By Thousands to School and Are Registered.

Yesterday morning the children of Richmond bade a tearful farewell to the joys of vacation and with doubtful sentiments trudged their way to school, there to begin again the work of brain-making and character-building. But though aching addeus were said to all the delights and pleasures of summer, yet there are many for the little ones to look forward to; for when were school children ever unhappy?

However, the hard work did not begin yesterday, for the day was spent only in enrollment. The enrollment will continue Monday, when the new pupils will be registered. The real school work will commence on Tuesday.

It is impossible to get at the figures of registration yet; for the complete enrollment cannot be had for at least a week, as there are always a few largards in beginning their attendance. But everything proceeded very smoothly yesterday; there was not the signest and toachers were well satisfied with their days results. The most notable event was the opening of the new Chimborazo School, which is the fluest school-building in the city, and perhaps in the South The erection of this building marks a new era in the listory of education in Richmond. Never before were the educators of the city, and for that matter in the whole State, so strenuous or so carnest in their endeavors to afford better facilities and the most improved methods for the utility of the school children. Education as taken a long stride, and the children of to-day are better and more thorought of the school children. Education in the results of the school children. Cow Ordinance is Rejected and Referred to Vote of

People. ARGUMENT ON QUESTION

Rev. George Wiley Takes Charge of One of the Runaway

Girls Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, No. 1102 Hull Street.

The now noted cow ordinance came us for argument and adjustment before the Manchester Council last night. Mr. A. J. Daffron is the father, and has been the advocate of the ordinance ever since its inception. The opposition has been lead by Mr. C. C. Jones. In effect, the ordinance relates to the prohibition of cowe ranging the streets at large. Mr. Daffron has endeavored to show that allowing cows to roam at large is hurtful to the name and dignity of the town, distusteful to the majority of the people, and injurious to the reputation of the city as compared with other cities that have adopted cow ordinances.

On the other hand, Mr. Jones has attempted to prove that the passage of such an ordinance would work a hardship to many epople who are owners of and make their flying through cows: that it is not damaging to the dignity of the city, sage would bring greater harm than to the Ordinance Committee, who were instructed to draw up an election ordinance, so that the matter could be referred to the vote of the people. election ordinance came before the Council last night, but after much argument it was decided to vote on the cow ordi-nance itself.

Those Who Took Sides.

Those Who Took Sides.

Those who took sides in arguing the question Were Messrs. Bradley, Jones, Daffron and Adkins, On motion, the ordinance was lost, the vote ptanding, necs-Bradley, Taylor, Jones, Ferguson, Cox and Adkins; ayes-Daffron and Lindsey, Then It was moved and carried that the question be referred to the vote of the people, the vote standing, ayes-Bradley, Taylor, Cox, Lindsey and Adkins; noss-Jones, Daffon and Ferguson. Whether Manchester will allow cows to roam at large will then be decided by the people. the people.

Child is Rescued.

The child of thirteen years who spent the child of the Free Bridge and who was turned over to her father by the police of Manchester, was carried to the Rev. George H. Wiley. Mr. Wiley will look after the girl, as far as it is possible, and will do all that can be done to restrain her.

Her father is an industrious and good clitizen, but the child is without a mother. Mr. Wiley thinks this a striking illustration of the need for a home for girls, such as his wife is trying to establish.
